Francophone Sephardic Fiction - Judith Roumani 2022-04-13

This book argues that modern francophone Sephardic novels, mainly from North Africa, draw on oral storytelling as well as modern and postmodern techniques to express the experience of migration, producing innovative imagined portable homelands with which the migrants successfully confront new societies, languages, and cultures.

The Seine was Red - Leïla Sebbar 2008
Toward the end of the Algerian war, the FLN, an Algerian nationalist party, organised a demonstration in Paris to oppose a curfew imposed upon Algerians in France. The protest was brutally suppressed by the Paris police. This incident provides an intimate look at the history of violence between France and Algeria.

Dans le café de la jeunesse perdue - Patrick Modiano 2009-01-01

Encore aujourd'hui, il m'arrive d'entendre, le soir, une voix qui m'appelle par mon prénom, dans la rue. Une voix rauque. Elle traîne un peu sur les syllabes et je la reconnais tout de suite : la voix de Louki. Je me retourne, mais il n'y a personne. Pas seulement le soir, mais au creux de ces après-midi d'été où vous ne savez plus très bien en quelle année vous êtes. Tout va recommencer comme avant. Les mêmes jours, les mêmes nuits, les mêmes lieux, les mêmes rencontres. L'Eternel Retour.

In het café van de verloren jeugd - Patrick Modiano 2014-11-13

Een Parijs' café in de jaren zestig, bezocht door een allegaartje van marginale figuren: jongeren met vage artistieke aspiraties, oudere jongeren, die al een verleden te verzwijgen hebben. Op een avond duikt Louki op. Ze lijkt een schuilplaats te zoeken, al begrijpt niemand wie of wat haar precies bedreigt zichzelf misschien nog wel het minst. Louki is de broze heldin van een navrante geschiedenis. Vier verschillende personages vertellen haar verhaal, als laatste haar vriend Roland, een schrijver in spé. Nog steeds meent hij haar stem te horen, 's nachts, op de Champs-Élysées...

Protean Selves - Adrienne Angelo 2014-08-20

What does it mean to write "I" in postmodern society, in a world in which technological advances and increased globalization have complicated notions of authenticity, origins, and selfhood? Under what circumstances and to what extent do authors lend their scriptural authority to fictional counterparts? What role does naming, or, conversely, anonymity play vis-à-vis the writing and written "I"? What aspects of identity are subject to (auto)fictional manipulations? And how do these complicated and multilayered narrating selves problematize the reader's engagement with the text? Seeking answers to these questions, Protean Selves brings together essays which explore the intricate relations between language, self, identity, otherness, and the world through the analysis of the forms and uses of the first-person voice. Written by specialists of a variety of approaches and authors from across the world, the studies in this volume follow up a number of critical inquiries on the thorny problematic of self-representation and the representation of the self in contemporary French and francophone literatures, and extend the theoretical analysis to narratives and authors who have gained increasing commercial and academic visibility in the twenty-first century.

You Will Not Have My Hate - Antoine Leiris
2016-10-25

INTERNATIONAL BESTSELLER - "On Friday night you stole the life of an exceptional person, the love of my life, the mother of my son, but you will not have my hate." On November 13, 2015, Antoine Leiris's wife, H el ene Muyal-Leiris, was killed by terrorists while attending a rock concert at the Bataclan Theater in Paris, in the deadliest attack on France since World War II. Three days later, Leiris wrote an open letter addressed directly to his wife's killers, which he posted on Facebook. He refused to be cowed or to let his seventeen-month-old son's life be defined by H el ene's murder. He refused to let the killers have their way: "For as long as he lives, this little boy will insult you with his happiness and freedom." Instantly, that short Facebook post caught fire, and was reported on by newspapers and television stations all over the world. In his determination to honor the memory of his wife, he became an international hero to everyone searching desperately for a way to deal with the horror of the Paris attacks and the grim shadow cast today by the threat of terrorism. Now Leiris tells the full story of his grief and struggle. You Will Not Have My Hate is a remarkable, heartbreaking, and, indeed, beautiful memoir of how he and his baby son, Melvil, endured in the days and weeks after H el ene's murder. With absolute emotional courage and openness, he somehow finds a way to answer that impossible question: how can I go on? He visits H el ene's body at the morgue, has to tell Melvil that Mommy will not be coming home, and buries the woman he had planned to spend the rest of his life with. Leiris's grief is terrible, but his love for his family is indomitable. This is the rare and unforgettable testimony of a survivor, and a universal message of hope and resilience. Leiris confronts an incomprehensible pain with a humbling generosity and grandeur of spirit. He is a guiding star for us all in these perilous times. His message—hate will be vanquished by love—is eternal.

Historical Dictionary of French Literature - John Flower 2022-05-15

French Fiction into the Twenty-First Century - Simon Kemp 2010-07-01

This book examines contemporary French literature in the light of a widely-held critical notion that it exists 'in the wake' of a period in which avant-garde experimental literature and postmodern writing-about-writing held sway. It looks at five notable current writers, namely Annie Ernaux, Pascal Quignard, Marie Darrieussecq, Jean Echenoz and Patrick Modiano in the context of the broader literary scene, to discover how far they continue to pursue the ideas of the previous generation, and how far they have turned their back on them.

The Night Watch - Patrick Modiano
2015-03-12

When Patrick Modiano was awarded the 2014 Nobel Prize for Literature he was praised for using the 'art of memory' to bring to life the Occupation of Paris during the Second World War. The Night Watch is his second novel and tells the story of a young man of limited means, caught between his work for the French Gestapo informing on the Resistance, and his work for a Resistance cell informing on the police and the black market dealers whose seedy milieu of nightclubs, prostitutes and spivs he shares. Under pressure from both sides to inform and bring things to a crisis, he finds himself driven towards an act of self-sacrifice as the only way to escape an impossible situation and the question that haunts him – how to be a traitor without being a traitor. In this astonishing, cruel and tender book, Modiano attempts to exorcise the past by leading his characters out on a fantasmagoric patrol during one fatal night of the Occupation.

Une jeunesse perdue - Jean-Marie Rouart
2017-01-03T00:00:00+01:00

"Au lit, il y a les femmes fleuves, alanguies et somnolentes ; il y a les femmes fleurs, odorantes, fragiles et fades ; les femmes pieuvres, souples, silencieuses et avides, qui s'enroulent sur un corps comme autour d'une proie. Et puis, il y a les femmes tempêtes, violentes, bruyantes, acharnées au plaisir. Valentina était une femme tempête."

Catherine Certitude - Patrick Modiano
2001

Watching her daughter attempt some jazz steps in her ballet school on a snowy afternoon in New York reminds Catherine of her own childhood in Paris, where she and her rather mysterious father lived happily together.

Dans le café de la jeunesse perdue - Patrick Modiano 2007

Paris dans les années 1960. Quatre habitués du Condé, café de l'Odéon, choisis parmi les artistes et étudiants bohèmes qui constituent sa clientèle, révèlent en quatre narrations l'enfance de Louki, alias Jacqueline Delanque, alias Mme Choureau, ses fugues, ses amours, son mal de vivre.

The Representation of the Relationship between Center and Periphery in the Contemporary Novel - Ruth Amar

2018-10-15

This collection of essays offers a comparative perspective on different forms of representation of social hybridity in contemporary novels through various cultural and linguistic lenses. It explores the various subcategories of their interdependent relationships, including power and domination between hegemony and marginality. The book revolves around five axes: namely, writing strategies and reterritorialization; marginality and intermediary spaces; revisited urban spaces; when periphery becomes center; and the modality of confrontation and construction of identity. It focuses on the identification and classification of spaces in order to understand their function in relation to the thematic strategy of the novel. Its main objective is identifying the textual representation of the challenge of center and periphery, as well as these concepts' role and significance in diegesis. Thus, new light is shed on the subject and on the contemporary novel as a whole.

The Omnibus Homo Sacer - Giorgio Agamben 2017-08-15

Giorgio Agamben's Homo Sacer is one of the seminal works of political philosophy in recent decades. A twenty-year undertaking, this project is a series of interconnected investigations of staggering ambition and scope investigating the deepest foundations of every major Western institution and discourse. This single book brings together for the first time all nine volumes that make up this groundbreaking project. Each volume takes a seemingly obscure and outdated issue as its starting point—an enigmatic figure in Roman law, or medieval debates about God's management of creation, or theories about the origin of the oath—but is always guided by questions with urgent contemporary relevance. The Omnibus Homo Sacer includes: 1.Homo Sacer: Sovereign Power and Bare Life 2.1.State of Exception 2.2.Stasis: Civil War as a Political Paradigm 2.3.The Sacrament of Language: An Archeology of the Oath

2.4.The Kingdom and the Glory: For a Theological Genealogy of Economy and Glory 2.5.Opus Dei: An Archeology of Duty 3.Remnants of Auschwitz: The Witness and the Archive 4.1.The Highest Poverty: Monastic Rules and Form-of-Life 4.2.The Use of Bodies

En el café de la juventut perduda - Patrick
Modiano 2008-09

Patrick Modiano és el gran novel·lista de París de la segona meitat del segle XX. En el café de la joventut perduda ens situa als primers anys seixanta al café Condé, prop del Carrefour de l'Odéon. Aquest local representa una destil·lació de molts cafès reals, punt de trobada de la bohèmia literària i universitària. Entre els personatges habituals del Condé hi ha la Louki, una dona misteriosa que desapareix d'un dia per l'altre sense dir res. Modiano se serveix de diferents testimonis per anar refent les traces d'aquesta dona inquietant, que ha viscut una infantesa desassistida a Pigalle, un fracàs matrimonial i un amor secret. Amb En el café de la joventut perduda, passem per una ciutat on passat, present i futur es donen perillosament la mà.

Karl Popper and Literary Theory - Thomas
Trzyna 2017-01-05

Karl Popper's philosophy of science provides a foundation for a theory of literary interpretation that avoids the pitfalls of contemporary theories. This study outlines the approach and applies it to challenging works from the Gospel of Mark to Patrick Modiano.

Happy People Read and Drink Coffee -
Agnès Martin-Lugand 2016-05-10

Diane seems to have the perfect life. She is a wife, mother, and the owner of Happy People Read and Drink Coffee, a cozy literary café in Paris. But when she suddenly loses her husband and daughter in a car accident, the world as she knows it disappears. One year later, Diane moves to a small town on the Irish coast, determined to heal by rebuilding her life alone—until she meets Edward, a handsome and moody photographer, and falls into a surprising and tumultuous romance. But will it last when Diane leaves Ireland for good? At once heartbreaking and uplifting, Diane's story is deeply felt, reminding us that love remembered is love enduring. "A heartbreaking story of love and loss that will twist readers up in knots...essential."

A Trace of Malice - Patrick Modiano 1988

Yale French Studies, Number 133 -

Richard J. Golsan 2017-12-01

Number 133 in Yale French Studies takes a new look at the themes in Nobel laureate Patrick Modiano's work This volume of Yale French Studies offers new perspectives on the work of the 2014 Nobel laureate in literature, Patrick Modiano. Including critical reassessments of themes that have informed, indeed haunted, Modiano's fiction from the outset, this collection of essays places the writer in a variety of new contexts. Topics include explorations of literary and cinematic traditions such as surrealism and film noir, situating Modiano's work among other literatures, the author's fascination with the dark years of the German Occupation, and his troubled relations with his parents.

Le mal de Paris - Régine Robin 2014-01-15
Paris a été chanté, filmé, raconté tant de fois ! Mais Paris, aujourd'hui, fait-il encore rêver ? Des photos de Robert Doisneau aux films de Marcel Carné ou aux polars de Léo Mallet, une vision en noir et blanc, réverbères et pavés luisants sous la pluie, a façonné notre imaginaire, avant de se transformer en clichés de cartes postales.
La ville estelle condamnée à devenir un musée à ciel ouvert, centré sur sa splendeur patrimoniale ? Ou peut-elle se redéployer, se muer en capitale du XXI^e siècle et se projeter dans un nouvel imaginaire grand parisien ? Amoureuse des mégapoles et nouvelle flâneuse de notre post-modernité, Régine Robin revisite Paris à l'aune de cette incertitude. Le Belleville populaire de son enfance, inventorié par

Georges Perec, n'existe plus depuis longtemps. Il n'était pas vraiment joli, reste un peu de mélancolie. Le quartier où elle habite, près de la gare Montparnasse, à l'ombre de la tour, a été métamorphosé dans les années 1960. On le dit moche, pour elle qui l'arpente, il a son atmosphère, sa poésie, comme les nouveaux espaces, du côté de Bercy ou de la Bibliothèque de France. Foin de nostalgie donc, de « c'était mieux avant », comme si on ne pouvait choisir qu'entre l'image carte-postale d'autrefois et les quartiers-villages pour bobos qui se jouent la comédie de « l'authenticité ». Ses déambulations nous mènent au delà du périphérique, découvrant ce qui palpite derrière cette frontière, dans ces banlieues malaimées de la petite et de la grande couronne, où vivent 10 millions d'habitants et où des mondes se rencontrent. Les parcours insolites auxquels elle nous invite croisent aussi la littérature et le cinéma. Dans ses pas, et ceux des architectes, des artistes, des écrivains avec lesquels elle chemine, on prend le pari d'un Grand Paris, avec des rêves à sa mesure.

Sundays in August - Patrick Modiano
2017-08-29

From beloved storyteller and Nobel Prize winner Patrick Modiano, a masterful and gripping crime novel set in picturesque Nice on the French Riviera Stolen jewels, black markets, hired guns, crossed lovers, unregistered addresses, people gone missing, shadowy figures disappearing in crowds, newspaper stories uncomfortably close and getting closer . . . this ominous novel is Patrick Modiano's most noirish work to date. Set in Nice—a departure from the author's more familiar Paris—this novel evokes the bright sun and dark shadow of the Riviera. Modiano's trademark ability to create a haunting atmosphere is here on full display: readers descend precipitously into a world of mystery, uneasiness, inevitability. A young couple in hiding keeps close watch over a notorious diamond necklace known as the Southern Cross. Its provenance is murky, its whereabouts known only to our hero and heroine, who find themselves trapped by its potential value—and its ultimate cost. Deftly Modiano reaches further and further into the past, revealing the secret histories of the two even as the pressurized present threatens to overwhelm them.

En el café de la juventud perdida - Patrick Modiano
2008-09-04

París, años sesenta. En el café Condé se reúnen poetas malditos, futuros situacionistas, y estudiantes fascinados por la bohemia parisina. Y aunque la nostalgia de aquellos años perdidos parecería ser el tema central de la novela, Modiano le da un giro sorprendente. Porque En el café de la juventud perdida es también una novela de misterio. Todos los personajes, todas las historias, confluyen en la enigmática Louki. Cuatro hombres nos cuentan sus encuentros y desencuentros con la hija de una trabajadora del Moulin-Rouge. Algunos la buscan, otros la aman, y para casi todos ellos la chica encarna el inalcanzable objeto del deseo. Louki, como todos los que la acompañan en su vagabundeo por un París espectral, es un personaje sin raíces, que vive inventando identidades, renaciendo una y otra vez, luchando por construir un presente perpetuo. Modiano recrea alrededor de la fascinante y conmovedora figura de Louki el París de su juventud, al mismo tiempo que construye con su estilo inconfundible una hermosísima novela sobre el poder de la memoria y la búsqueda de la identidad, dos grandes ejes de la obra del escritor francés.

The Streets of Paris - Susan Cahill
2017-06-06

For the seasoned Parisian traveller or the novice looking to get off the beaten track Cahill provides a roadmap to parts of the city most visitors will never see. In a city that is the destination of millions of travelers every year, it can be difficult to find your way to its lovely, serene spaces. Away from the madding crowds, the gardens of Paris offer the balm of flowers, tall old trees, fountains, ponds, sculptures, with quiet Parisians reading Le Monde, taking the sun, relishing the peace. These places are often tucked away, off the beaten tourist track, and without a guide they're easy to miss: The Jardin de l'Atlantique, out of sight on the roof of Gare Montparnasse. The enchanting Jardin de la Vallee Suisse, invisible from the street, accessible only if you know how to find the path. The Square Boucicaut, its children's carousel hidden inside a grove of oak and maples. Square Batignolles, the shade of the old chestnut trees an inspiration to the painter edouard Manet and poet Paul Verlaine. Hidden Gardens of Paris features 40 such oases in quartiers both posh and plain, as well as dozens of others Nearby to the featured green space. It is arranged according to the geographic sections of the city Ile de la Cite, Left Bank, Right Bank, Western Paris, Eastern Paris a lively and informative guide that focuses on each place as a site of passionate cultural memory.

En El Cafe de la Juventud Perdida -

Patrick Modiano 2020-02-28

"Entre exactitudes a las que querrian agarrarse y nebulosas que no quieren nombrar, cuatro personajes son convocados para hablar de uno de ellos, que tambien habla. ¿Versiones contradictorias? No. ¿Complementarias? Bah. El mundo de En el cafe de la juventud perdida no es un mundo que se pueda recomponer. Tiene algo de Escenas de la vida bohemia, claro, pero el libro que más cita es Horizontes perdidos, la invención de Shangri-La, donde el tiempo se detiene. «Pero no merece la pena ir tan lejos», dice Louki, el centro de la novela. «Me acuerdo de mis paseos nocturnos. Para mí, Montmartre era el Tíbet.» Y aun así, se esté donde se esté -un lugar cartografiado, una «zona neutra», un número concreto de una calle concreta de París-, salir de un sitio es siempre como salir de Shangri-La: entonces uno envejece, muere." -- Page 4 of cover.

Paratexts in Translation - Richard Pleijel
2022-08-23

As something that surrounds, extends, and presents a text to the world, the phenomenon of paratext is gaining more and more attention within the discipline of Translation Studies. This edited volume, with contributions by five Nordic scholars, aims to build on that attention by presenting five case studies on paratexts in translations into Danish, Norwegian, and Swedish. A special focus lies on the paratextual mechanisms at play when works from different source cultures are translated into a Nordic target context. The translated works under scrutiny belong to genres such as literary novels, non-fiction works, and religious texts, and the paratexts surveyed include footnotes, covers, blurbs, introductions, and literary reviews. The scholars represented in the volume all work in Translation Studies, or at the intersection between Translation Studies and other disciplines.

La mythologie du quotidien dans 'Une jeunesse' et dans 'Dans le café de la jeunesse perdue' de Patrick Modiano - Nina Peeters 2012

In the Café of Lost Youth -

Patrick Modiano 2016-03-08

NYRB Classics Original Winner of the Nobel Prize in Literature In the Café of Lost Youth is vintage Patrick Modiano, an absorbing evocation of a particular Paris of the 1950s, shadowy and shady, a secret world of writers, criminals, drinkers, and drifters. The novel, inspired in part by the circle (depicted in the photographs of Ed van der Elsken) of the notorious and charismatic Guy Debord, centers on the enigmatic, waiflike figure of Louki, who catches everyone's attention even as she eludes possession or comprehension. Through the eyes of four very different narrators, including Louki herself, we contemplate her character and her fate, while Modiano explores the themes of identity, memory, time, and forgetting that are at the heart of his spellbinding and deeply moving art.

Paper Gardens - Evelyne Bloch-Dano
2018-04-26

From Jean-Jacques Rousseau to Marcel Proust, from Marguerite Duras to George Sand, from Colette to Patrick Modiano, gardens appear in novels as representations of the real world, but also as reflections of the imagination. In Paper Gardens: A Stroll through French Literature, Évelyne Bloch-Dano contemplates the role of the garden in the work of great prose writers, ruminating on how the garden can variously symbolize a reflection of the soul, a well-earned rest, an improving form of work, a nostalgia for childhood, and the dream of an ideal world. The charming and erudite first section focuses on history and is devoted to types of gardens ranging from the biblical Garden of Eden to English parklands; the second perceptively considers their role in literary works. Concealed within these cultivated wanderings is also an element of autobiography. Lovers of literature and gardening alike will fall in love with this beautifully written meditation.

Missing Person - Patrick Modiano
2005-03-11

An amnesiac searches for his identity, from Polynesia to Rome, in this novel by the Nobel Prize-winning author of Dora Bruder. Guy Roland is in pursuit of the identity he lost in the murky days of the Paris Occupation. For ten years, he has lived without a past. His current life and name were given to him by his recently retired boss, Hutte, who welcomed him, a onetime client, into his detective agency. Guy makes full use of Hutte's files—directories, yearbooks, and papers of all kinds going back half a century—but his leads are few. Could he really be the person in that photograph, a young man remembered by some as a South American attaché? Or was he someone else, perhaps the disappeared scion of a prominent local family? He interviews strangers and is tantalized by half-clues until, at last, he grasps a thread that leads him through the maze of his own repressed experience. Published in France as Rue des Boutiques obscures, this is both a detective mystery and a haunting meditation on the nature of the self, Patrick Modiano's spare, hypnotic prose, superbly translated by Daniel Weissbort, draws readers into the intoxication of a rare literary experience. Praise for Missing Persons "[An] elliptical, engrossing rumination on the essence of identity and the search for self." —Frank Sennet,

Booklist "A fine introduction to his work. . . . Beautifully written and perfectly noirish, as though the world were being seen through a haze of Gauloise smoke. Be warned, though: after reading this, a sensitive soul may well seize up the next time a stranger waves." —Kirkus Reviews

Literary Translation, Reception, and Transfer - Norbert Bachleitner 2020-09-21
The three concepts mentioned in the title of this volume imply the contact between two or more literary phenomena; they are based on similarities that are related to a form of 'travelling' and imitation or adaptation of entire texts, genres, forms or contents. Transfer comprises all sorts of 'travelling', with translation as a major instrument of transferring literature across linguistic and cultural barriers. Transfer aims at the process of communication, starting with the source product and its cultural context and then highlighting the mediation by certain agents and institutions to end up with inclusion in the target culture. Reception lays its focus on the receiving culture, especially on criticism, reading, and interpretation. Translation, therefore, forms a major factor in reception with the general aim of reception studies being to reveal the wide spectrum of interpretations each text offers. Moreover, translations are the prime instrument in the distribution of literature across linguistic and cultural borders; thus, they pave the way for gaining prestige in the world of literature. The thirty-eight papers included in this volume and dedicated to research in this area were previously read at the ICLA conference 2016 in Vienna. They are ample proof that the field remains at the center of interest in Comparative Literature.

Die Suche nach Identität bei Patrick Modiano. Ein Vergleich von „Dora Bruder“ und „Dans le café de la jeunesse perdue“ - Sandra S. 2016-05-09 Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 2015 im Fachbereich Französisch - Literatur, Werke, Note: 1,7, , Sprache: Deutsch, Abstract: Patrick Modiano selbst scheint immer auf der Suche nach einer Identität zu bleiben, da er keine richtigen nationalen und religiösen Wurzeln zu haben glaubt. Deutlich wird diese Suche unter anderem in seinen beiden Werken "Dora Bruder" von 1997 und "Dans le Café de la Jeunesse Perdue" von 2007. Wie konstruiert Modiano ihre Identität? Wo finden sich Verbindungen zur eigenen Identität Modianos? Welche Gemeinsamkeiten und Unterschiede lassen sich zwischen den Werken herausstellen? Welche Fragen bleiben offen und welche Leerstellen werden gefüllt? Wie werden sie gefüllt? Diesen Fragen soll im Folgenden nachgegangen werden. Als theoretische Grundlage zur Analyse der beiden Werke dient das Konzept der narrativen Identität des Philosophen Paul Ricoeur, wobei die Narration im Vordergrund stehen soll – nicht die psychologischen Aspekte der Theorie. Dabei soll zunächst kurz auf Patrick Modiano selbst sowie sein Leben und sein Werk eingegangen werden. Im Anschluss wird der Identitätsbegriff und das Konzept der narrativen Identität nach Ricoeur vorgestellt. In der Analyse werden schließlich die beiden Werke Modianos inhaltlich vorgestellt und hinsichtlich ihrer Identitätssuche und -konstruktion analysiert. Dabei wird besonderes Augenmerk auf Bezüge zur Identität Modianos sowie die verschiedenen Leerstellen und ihre Füllung gelegt. Abschließend soll ein Vergleich zwischen den beiden Werken gezogen werden, um in einem Fazit zu erörtern, wie sich Modianos Suche nach Identität in diesem Ausschnitt seines Gesamtwerkes darstellt.

Auteur français, lauréat du Prix Goncourt pour Rue des boutiques obscures et du Grand Prix du roman de l'Académie française pour Les Boulevards de ceinture, Patrick Modiano écrit autour des thèmes de la quête de l'identité et de l'histoire familiale et de la question du père. Ce livre présente la vie et l'environnement de Patrick Modiano. Les thèmes et les structures de ses textes sont analysés.

Young Once - Patrick Modiano 2016-03-08
AN NYRB CLASSICS ORIGINAL Winner of the Nobel Prize in Literature Young Once is a crucial book in the career of Nobel laureate Patrick Modiano. It was his breakthrough novel, in which he stripped away the difficulties of his earlier work and found a clear, mysteriously moving voice for his haunting stories of love, nostalgia, and grief. It has also been called "the most gripping Modiano book of all" (Der Spiegel). Odile and Louis are leading a happy, bucolic life with their two children in the French countryside near the Swiss mountains. It is Odile's thirty-fifth birthday, and Louis's thirty-fifth birthday is a few weeks away. Then the story shifts back to their early years: Louis, just freed from his military service and at loose ends, is taken up by a shady character who brings him to Paris to do some work for a friend who manages a garage; Odile, an aspiring singer, is at the mercy of the kindness and unkindness of strangers. In a Paris that is steeped in crime and full of secrets, they find each other and struggle together to create what, looking back, will have been their youth.
