Language, Identity and Cycling in the New Media Age - Patrick Kiernan

2017-09-21

This book examines how identities associated with cycling are evoked, narrated and negotiated in a media context dominated by digital environments. Arguing that the nature of identity is being impacted by the changing nature of the material and semiotic resources available for making meaning, the author introduces an approach to exploring such identity positioning through the interrelated frameworks of Systemic Functional Linguistics and Multimodal Analysis, and illustrates how this happens in practice. The book is divided into three parts, each of which focuses on a different aspect of identity and media environment. Part I considers celebrity identities in the conventional media of print and television. Part II investigates community and leisure / sporting identity through an online cycling forum, while Part III examines corporate identity realised through corporate websites, consumer reviews and Youtube channels. This unique volume will appeal to students and scholars of discourse analysis, applied linguistics and the world of cycling.

Depicting the turbulent life of the Russian Foreign Intelligence (SVR) agent Galina and the life lessons learned from the deceptive trick played on her by the Turkish Intelligence Organization (MIT) agent

Teoman, this novel has been developed on and diversified with romance, espionage and personal growth elements in a delicate balance and centers on Galina's turning into a playmaker from being a putty in someone's hands. The "Sextelligence" operation of Galina, which was formed around her sexuality, will be a breathtaking read within the novel and you will discover such a fiction of unique features for the very first time! The mind games to the fore of the CIA-SVR conflicts will remind you the truthfulness of the saying that only the initiator of a war can win it and the parties who fight the war are always bound to lose it. You will enjoy reading Galina's way of cracking her door open through her intelligence and shrewd plans to get out of her desperate life that is full of threats. The book will also provide you with some information that can be applied to your daily life, such as meditating with your own voice, finding the right answers when your mind is overly busy, and the on-the-sly interrogative techniques that will not alert the interrogee. You will read in a flash Galina's way of generating solutions by effectively using the information in the books that came across her in life. The quotations from various doyens such as Sigmund Freud, Erich Fromm and Alfred Adler do not only render the book worth reading for multiple times but also proves the element of realism in the plot.

The Cordillera - Volume 6 - Christopher Bennett 2014-10-27

Each early June the world's toughest mountain bike race kicks off from Banff Canada. The race course follows dirt roads, muddy tracks, and snow covered mountains along the Continental Divide to the Mexican border, some 2,750 miles in total. This race, this cannonball run of pain, is called the Tour Divide and is unique in the world of sport: the clock never stops and no outside support is allowed. The Cordillera is the journal of the Tour Divide. The Cordillera is about things that break - broken bodies, broken bikes, broken spirits. Between these covers are people at their lowest, their most physically and emotionally depleted. Volume 6 of The Cordillera describes the 2014 race. But as always, the Cordillera is about focusing and getting on with the job of trying to reach Antelope Wells. The common thread to all stories is the incredible strength of the human spirit, and what can be achieved if we really try.
