Multi-leadership in Urban Schools - Judy A. Alston 2002

K-12 educational leadership literature highlights the need for co-leadership as it relates to school administrative effectiveness. While co-leadership in the principalship is not a new idea, it is a shift in thinking from the traditional model of one principal as school administrator. Multi-leadership in Urban Schools proposes a model for school administrative leadership through collective administrative responsibility. With three distinct people doing three distinct jobs, while jointly collaborating in a model of leadership, each can contribute to the creation of a community of learning to improve delivery of instruction and maximize student opportunity for academic excellence. This text, used in educational leadership preparation programs and in urban school districts' efforts for reform, can (re)conceptualize urban school leadership, influencing effective leadership and contributing to student academic achievement.

Supervision: A Redefinition - Thomas Sergiovanni 2006-03-29

The best known book in the field, Supervision: A Redefinition is a research-based guide to the practice and philosophy of supervision. Practical applications are supported by a conception of supervision as moral agency, and the book continues to promote a redefinition of supervision from a traditional top-down hierarchy to a shared activity involving all stake-holders in the school--including teachers, administrators, and parents. The eighth edition continues a thirty-plus year tradition of breaking new ground by reconsidering the field of supervision in response to changing school contexts, policies, and realities. The new edition shows even more clearly how the book's ideas can be used to help supervisors improve their effectiveness: practical suggestions abound.

Educational Leadership and Planning for Technology - Anthony G. Picciano 2011

Technology in schools has evolved from the predominance of stand-alone computers to a blend of computer, media, communications, and other forms of technology dominated by the ubiquitous Internet and World Wide Web. In addition, K-12 education has evolved into a much more outcomes-driven enterprise that depends upon technology and data to perform many of its basic functions. The newly revised fifth edition of Educational Leadership and Planning for Technology provides educators with both the theoretical and the practical considerations for planning and implementing technology in today's schools, with an emphasis on the total application of technology including both administrative and instructional uses. Designed for preservice and inservice educators such as administrators, teachers, technology coordinators, and media specialists, this fifth edition text builds a strong foundation from which educators may provide informed leadership and become agents for realizing the powerful potential of technology in their schools. "I have used the textbook in teaching my course, Leadership in Educational Technology, in an online format the past four springs. I began the course and found this text to be the best available. I am still of that opinion." --Patrick Durow, Creighton University "I have used this text primarily because of it's accessible writing and it's completeness of coverage. I do not use many texts in my teaching, so it is a compliment to any author when I can use their work in my courses." --Steven Smith, Northern Kentucky University
