Researching Critical Reflection - Jan Fook 2015-10-05

Critical reflection helps professionals to learn directly from their practice experience, so that they can improve their own work in an ongoing and flexible way - something essential in today's complex and changing organisations. It allows change to be managed in a way which enables individuals to preserve a sense of what is fundamentally important to them as professionals. It is particularly important as it can also help make sense of some fundamental issues, and so also has implications for how we live our lives. However, more systematic research on critical reflection is needed to help us understand what works best for professionals in different settings. This timely work explores how critical reflection is researched, evaluated and used as a research method itself, with the aim of improving how it is taught and practised in a rigorous and transferable way. Developing a more comprehensive and multi-disciplinary view of the current state of critical reflection and the research directions which need to be taken, the book is divided into four parts. It: - Provides an overview of different perspectives on critical reflection and stimulates dialogue between them - Establishes some common platforms from which to develop further research directions - Identifies the major issues in evaluating critical reflection teaching, and main methods for doing so - Contributes to social science methodological innovations by exploring how methods based on critical reflection can be used for researching professional practice - Contains contributions from academics who are internationally known and highly experienced in different aspects of critical reflection. Researching Critical Reflection is an important reference for all students, practitioners, and researchers - including in the areas of education, management, health and social work - who engage with critical reflection to develop their practice.

Transforming Nursing Through Reflective Practice - Christopher Johns 2005-07-01

Developing Reflective Practice - Natus Oelofsen 2012-04-15
An essential toolkit that helps students, qualified nurses and other healthcare professionals to become confident reflective practitioners. Developing Reflective Practice is suitable for students and practitioners in a variety of fields, including nursing, psychology, social work, therapeutic child care, and education. The book offers a simple three-stage reflective cycle that will enable students and practitioners to incorporate reflective practice into their workplace and to help them feel confident and competent when confronted with complex and emotionally demanding situations in their practice. Introduces reflective practice and provides a range of reflective methods and techniques. Invites readers to acquire and develop skills by working through practical reflective activities. Illustrates concepts and techniques with extended worked examples. Encourages structured reflection with journal exercises. Provides practical advice on team working, case supervision and recognising and avoiding stress and burnout. Students and qualified practitioners will benefit from reading this book and working through the reflective exercises that accompany the text. From Reviews: "...In this book the clinical psychologist Natus Oelofsen describes the processes of learning and the three-step reflective cycle, explaining how keeping a reflective journal offers insights into self and behaviour, and using critical analysis to reflect on even ordinary, everyday incidents. He shows how the insights of understanding help our interactions with patients and colleagues. Reflection helps us work together, offer support and see where we are able to fit in as team members. The chapter 'All for one and one for all: building supportive teams' is particularly illuminating. There is so much in this book, including getting the most from supervision, ethical issues and dealing with work-based stress, as well as exercises, activities and case examples." Nursing Standard, Vol. 26, No. 48, August 2012 "Developing Reflective Practice is a thorough and concise book enabling students, qualified nurses and any other health professional to become confident reflective practitioners within their own field.... A well-written and educational tool particularly for a nursing student and even a social work student." Nursing Times, 11 October 2012

Nurses Reflection Diary - Jane Coombs 2015-09-19

Nurses Reflective Diary for Re validation From 2016 all nurses and midwives who practice in the UK will need to undergo a system of revalidation. This workbook provides a means of capturing your own, confidential reflections with prompts for you to fill in. Once done, you can ask your professional supervisor to review your own written five reflections and sign them off. One part of the revalidation process will be for nurses and midwives to contemplate five instances of their nursing practice that link to the nurses national code of practice. And, from that reflection, consider ways of improving their professional practice. Diary and Workbook for Nurses This workbook provides a framework to first describe the incident, then link the incident to the Code of Practice, and finally show how the incident could be improved further. After five reflections and for your next revalidation, you can ask your professional nurse supervisor to sign the workbook template, indicating they have seen and approved your reflective diary. This signed document is scanned or copied and inserted into your continuing professional development (CPD) portfolio. Never Search for Piece of Paper Again The workbook for reflection is designed for a revalidation's, which covers a period of over 10 years. Now nurses will be able to show their professionalism and development in one simple, easy to use, easy to keep and find dairy and workbook. There is also references and website links for further advice; but the real beauty is that this nurse reflection diary is a stand alone document to keep with you for the next 12 years of your practice as a nurse or midwife.

Reflective Journal - The Student Nurse Guide 2020-07-13

The Student Nurse Guide believes in inspiring future nurses through a different approach in training. We believe doing a degree in nursing doesn't have to be unnecessarily hard/stressful/exhausting or financially ruin you! We believe anyone can be a nurse no matter what challenges you have to overcome. Reflective practice is one of the very first things you will learn about when you start uni & it is incredibly boring! At first it seems a very daunting & complex process with theories and models and something you have to get right if you want to qualify - no pressure! You also may have to write one of your first assignments about reflection and include something from practice to reflect on. Just deciding what to reflect on can seem to take forever, let alone writing the actual reflective account. Why writing reflective accounts are important: *It helps you to remember key learning experiences. *You have recorded examples to draw on when writing assignments. *It helps develop your self-awareness. *Showcases your development journey & achievements. *Builds your critical analysis & problem solving skills. *Helps you to develop your reflection in action vs reflection on action. *It's part of the NMC code to be a reflective practitioner through continuous reflection. If you haven't already started keeping a reflective journal you will need to soon. Most universities recommend students start one at the beginning of their degree, to help them develop their reflection skills, and as a way of keeping all their reflective accounts in one place. The Student Nurse Guide Reflective Journal was designed specifically for nursing students. It includes an example of a student nurses reflective account to draw from if you get stuck. Each page includes space to record the date, location, key learning point to help you quickly recall & find the subject, & read around to help develop your knowledge of key nursing skills as a result of your reflection. A reflective writing outline is also included on every reflective account page to help guide your writing and keep you on track. Featuring a modern contemporary design in A5 size, it is easy to keep at hand ready to record any learning opportunity as it happens, with approx 180 lined pages. The one thing to remember when reflecting is there is no right or wrong way of doing it. The aim is not be perfect, but to just record an event or experience which you feel contributed to your learning in some way. Remember this can be both positive and negative; you don't have to be too critical of yourself. Once you have at least described what happened, you can always come back and reflect on it at a later time. Always be honest with yourself when reflecting even if it makes you feel uncomfortable at times. Writing reflective accounts is a skill you will develop the more you practice it. Once you have learnt about the different theories and modules on reflection, you will find a style you prefer and apply it to guide your own reflective account writing.

Teaching Technologies in Nursing & the Health Professions - Dr. Wanda Bonnel, PhD, RN 2010-04-20

"This is an excellent resource, highly recommended for new and seasoned educators at every level." --Nursing Education Perspectives Health information technology is now the top priority for improving nursing and health care by informing clinical care, interconnecting clinicians, personalizing care, and improving population health at large. This book presents a broad range of cutting-edge teaching technologies and a detailed overview of teaching and learning pedagogical concepts that are relevant across a variety of teaching environments. Helpful to both new and seasoned educators, these "must-know" strategies allow faculty to keep pace with the rapidly changing digital world. The book helps to guide faculty in making thoughtful, informed decisions on how and where to integrate technology into learning environments. A major feature of this book is the Integrated Learning Triangle for Teaching with Technologies, a faculty tool to help determine if and how specific technologies can promote student learning. Other important chapter pedagogy includes best teaching practices, teaching and learning self-assessment tools, useful tips for faculty such as "making teaching easier," and reflective questions and activities for the reader. Key Topics: Using cutting-edge technologies as tools for "active learning," such as automated response systems, clickers, podcasts, blogs, wikis, web-based modules, and more Expanding faculty and student technology skills and information literacy—a critical competency in all nursing programs Using the Internet and digital videos to help bridge the classroom with the clinical setting Reflecting on how technology impacts current communication systems Incorporating simulation into students' clinical learning experiences Promoting self-directed, lifelong learning through health information technology

Principles of Assessment and Outcome Measurement for Occupational Therapists and Physiotherapists - Alison Laver Fawcett 2013-03-15

This textbook on assessment and outcome measurement is written for both occupational therapy and physiotherapy students and qualified therapists. It begins by defining what is meant by assessment, outcome, evaluation and measurement and discussing the complexity of therapy assessment and measurement, including the challenge of measuring human behaviour and the impact of factors such as task demand and context, including the environment. Methods of data collection (e.g. observation, interview, standardised testing) and sources (e.g. self-report, proxy) for collecting information about clients are then reviewed, and the main purposes of assessment (e.g. descriptive, evaluative, predictive, discriminative) presented. The book then addresses the topics of standardisation, levels of measurement, reliability, validity and clinical utility. There is a chapter describing and applying models for categorizing levels of function to aid assessment and measurement. The concept of clinical reasoning and reflective practice is then explored. Application of principles is supported through detailed case studies and worksheets and the criteria for test critique and guidelines for choosing a particular assessment approach are discussed.

EBOOK: Making Sense of Nursing Portfolios: A Guide for Students - Fiona Timmins 2008-05-16

"Each chapter's activities are hands-on and should make the book a useful and enjoyable experience. It will appeal to students and teachers as a one-stop shop for portfolio advice and support." Nursing Standard "This text is much needed. Clearly written and engaging, this has the potential to become a gold standard portfolio text." Roger Watson, Editor of Journal of Clinical Nursing and Professor of Nursing, School of Nursing and Midwifery, The University of Sheffield "Having read this book, I feel that it is not only useful for nursing students, but could be useful for qualified nurses who are working on their continuing professional development folder... As students progress through their course, how they manage their time, their attitude to learning and the goals they set for themselves may change. It is fitting therefore that the first chapter looks at learning in the context of portfolios and includes a time management, desire for learning and self control questionnaire - which although gives no definition to how the student manages their time, could prove to be an interesting activity particularly if completed at the start of a year and then at the completion of the year." Joanne Starke, Nursing Student "Fiona Timmins has made the topic of nursing portfolios easy to understand with simple terms and many helpful activities throughout while still being easy to read. While covering everything from the purpose of portfolios, content and structure to portfolios in operation this is a book that will greatly help anyone trying to produce a portfolio whether just starting or nearing the end of one...I will definitely be referring to this book throughout my 3 years as a student nurse making my portfolio and would recommend others to do so as well." Laura Franklin, Nursing Student "Fiona Timmins has written a book which is not just useful for student nurses but it also makes the topic easier to understand. Throughout the text there are many activities for the reader to partake in. It covers key topics such as "portfolio content" and "portfolio structure". As a 2nd year nursing student i believe that this text is a valuble asset to any nursing students bookshelf as it is clear, consise and makes what can be a very confusing subject appear much easier." Vicky Bain, Nursing Student "Fiona Timmins has produced a book that is not only simple and easy to read but provides activities that enable the reader to think deeper about the information they include within their portfolio. Remember points dotted through each chapter provide quick and easy hints and tips to look back on while completing a portfolio ... This is one book, which I wish I had the chance to read in my first year, but it will be a handy companion while I complete my portfolio. I will recommend this book to my fellow classmates and also students in the years bellow, as they will defiantly benefit from this book." Leanne Haigh, Nursing Student This accessible book provides a guide to the context of portfolio development and its importance not just to assessment but to the patient experience. All students undertaking pre-registration nursing qualifications are required to complete a portfolio as part of their formal assessment, in order to bridge the gap between theory and practice and to provide evidence of achievements in practice. Fiona Timmins offers a handy guide to approaching, putting together and developing an effective portfolio, helping you answer questions like: What should be in my portfolio? How should I present it? How will my portfolio be assessed? Reflection points and portfolio examples make the book easy to use. Key topics covered include: Learning in the context of the portfolio The purpose of portfolios Reflection and reflective practice Competence in nursing Portfolio content Portfolio structure The portfolio in operation Making Sense of Portfolios is essential reading for all pre- and post-registration nursing students looking for a clear and accessible guide to creating and developing a portfolio.

Reflective Writing - Kate Williams 2020-05-09

Packed with practical advice, this concise guide explains what reflective writing is and how to approach it. It equips students with all the key information and strategies they need to develop an appropriate reflective writing style, whatever their subject area. Annotated examples from a range of disciplines and contexts show students how to put these tips into practice. It concludes with a section on applying reflective practices to personal development and career planning. This handy guide is an indispensable resource for students of all disciplines and levels, who are required to develop and demonstrate reflective qualities in their work. It will be particularly useful to students writing reflective logs on placements. New to this Edition: - Contains more content on the value and importance of reflection in other life contexts, so that students can appreciate its relevance from an early stage; - Features a short overview of academic writing genres, to help students make connections between reflective writing and other forms of academic writing with which they are already familiar - Covers alternative ways of capturing reflection, such as free-writing, blogs/vlogs and other technologies - Includes new examples which show how students have re-worked their initial drafts to produce a better, more appropriate response
