simple and easy explanation. This book will be suitable for complete beginners or people who already know a thing or two about cannabis. Growing cannabis indoors is quickly becoming a popular pastime for Americans, especially since the overall attitudes toward the plants and its benefits are changing more and more each day. The reasons why it's becoming so popular are as varied as the strains of weed available nowadays. Many people find marijuana enjoyable, and it isn't as difficult as people believe to grow, which means people are becoming wise to the opportunities this presents. Growing cannabis indoors can be superior to outdoor operations for a number of reasons. The plants are allowed to grow in supervised conditions without being subject to as many risks as they would outdoors from unforeseen weather conditions, pests, or other mishaps. Once the gardener has the perfect system worked out, indoor operations are a reliable way to produce high quality buds. The main challenge or inconvenience of going this route is dealing with the strong smell that is likely to occur along with the growth operation. Cannabis for both medicinal and recreational uses is now far beyond only the earth's tropical or warm climates, so for many people who enjoy it, indoor grow setups are the only choice they have. Indoor marijuana growing has never before seen the level of popularity it is at today. It has also never been this simple or easy to grow your own high quality cannabis. The Internet provides growers with unlimited access to advice, information, suppliers of seeds and equipment, and all the necessary implements to get started on your own garden. Hydroponics Cannabis: The Complete Guide on How to Grow Cannabis Indoor and Outdoor - Ferdinand H. Quinones MD 2019-02-08

Hydroponics is the art of growing plants without soil. When most people think of growing marijuana hydroponically, they think of growing their plants with their roots suspended directly into water with absolutely no growing medium. However, this is only one type of hydroponic growing. There are several variations including growing your plant in a soilless medium such as perlite/coco coir and then watering your plants every day, which is not very different from growing in soil. The debate over cannabis growing mediums is not likely to end soon. With all the information available, it can be hard to make this decision regarding your own grow-op. We're here to help you choose! With the continuous momentum of cannabis legalization, a lot of people are starting to take a swing at growing cannabis. Smoking your own home-grown bud is one of the most gratifying experiences a stoner can have. But when starting out, most people don't know where to begin. In this article, we'll be covering hydroponic vs soil-based growing operations. This will help the inexperienced and even the experienced grower decide on the correct medium for their next grow. In 2017, when we talk about soil vs hydro plantations, we're usually referring to indoor vs outdoor growing. This is because indoor mediums are rarely 100% soil. People tend to use substrates like coco coir and rockwool, which are soilless mixtures. Most fully-soil operations out there will be found in outdoor plantations. The advantage to growing hydroponically is that you deliver all the nutrients the plant needs right to its roots. In soil, the roots have to seek out and extract all nutrients, but with hydroponics, you take the work out of finding nutrients so the plant can focus more of its energy on growing bud and making flowers/buds. Therefore you will end up with much faster growth and higher yields than if you grew your marijuana plants in soil. Hydroponics can be very simple or very complex, depending on your set-up. I recommend with starting with a method that's on the simple side, and then trying a more complex method once you have a little experience under your belt.
